

TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to “Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency”. Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

Feedback	Comment
others	Keep being the quiet leader that you are Your contributions and artistic design are incredibly valuable to our group work and group process Thank you for being supportive of our own contributions Please try to be a little more cautious when making opinions on individual s choices that are different than your own Sometimes it can be construed as a little judgmental
others	Your work is always thoughtful and thorough You take the time to consider everyone s ideas carefully and are always conscious of how to ensure that group meetings are inclusive and safe for everyone to contribute Don t hesitate to speak up when you have an idea for a direction in which to take the project You have great ideas but occasionally share them hesitantly We like to hear what you have to say so don t hesitate to share ideas as they come to you
others	You ve been an excellent team member in every aspect as far as I can see Thank you for all your great work and I m glad to have had you in the team
others	Veronica you make great contributions to our group especially your sweet drawing skills Thank you for always formatting our papers and making sure things get done on time