

TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to “Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency”. Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

Feedback	Comment
others	Ashley is a great contribution to the team Her attention and perfection to small detail i e APA formatting making sure everything is covered from the rubric etc is what the group exactly needs Ashley brings her research background and makes a huge contribution to papers that the team writes Keep being amazing Ash
others	Ashley is an excellent organizer and frequently ensures that our group assignments meet all of the requirements Ashley uses her previous knowledge and skills to help us complete group work to a high standard of quality others	Keep bring your energy and task oriented approach to every team meeting You always bring great ideas to the group and incorporate other s ideas as well
others	Ashley does an excellent job of coordinating information opinions and performing as a leader She often compares the groups work with expected norms and guides the group towards the next goal or task
others	Ashley you are always on top of our references and making sure that all angles of a topic or idea have been considered You are also detailed oriented and great at making sure we have added all we can to ideas and sections on papers and presentations You were also always on the ball with making google docs and collaborating with team members It has been a great experience working with you on the learning team this year