

TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to “Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency”. Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

others	Shirin is a great team member as she is respectful of others opinions She is always there to help others out and makes sure everyone is heard She is productive and contributes great ideas to our projects and case studies She has been a pleasure to work with and get to know this year
others	Keep doing what you re doing and you ll become a great OT It was pleasure making a friend and working with you as a team member I will cherish all the memories from our projects including the groups theory assignments that we have worked together on throughout the last semester Additionally I will carry all the lessons that I have learnt from you and our team and incorporate them into my future OT practice Thanks for being awesome
others	Shirin you are an original You have brought so much life this year to our group with your creativity your joy and most of all your engaging stories I don t think our team would have bonded the way we did without you You kept wonderful balance of having fun but also keeping us on task I will miss all the soca laughs and stories next year but I know that you will make such a great OT in the future
others	Shirin your humour intelligence and incredible spirit made it such a joy to be a part of your team I am thankful for how you balanced meetings with both hard work and fun
others	Her creativity and enthusiasm will be an asset to any future employment I know Shirin will be fantastic at working with any client population
