

TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to “Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency”. Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

Feedback	Comment
others	It was very easy to work with you on this project You had creative ideas and always made sure that everyone s opinions were considered Work was done well and always on time if not early You were a calming influence on the day of the sessions and whenever we got to a stressful part of the project
others	Your positive energy is infectious It helps us when we re down and moves things along You re honest when you re feeling stressed or down too which fosters an approachable environment and allows us to do the same helping everyone to know where everyone s at and where to pick up the slack You are a wonderful leader and great at leading on the spot and I apologize if you were in that situation more than ideal but the fact that you are always one step ahead of the game is a great quality others	You ve been an excellent group member work wise and you also bring fun and connection and birthday food to the group I m so glad to have had you in the team
others	Elise you always keep our group in high spirits by bringing us together with your delicious baked treats keep it up