

TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to “Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency”. Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

Feedback	Comment
others	You always actively listen to everyone s ideas and make sure everyone is included Thanks for always being so wonderful patient and supplying us with homemade goods for those long group meetings
others	Lauren always brought a positive attitude to group meetings and made working more enjoyable She helped to nurture our group and create a warm environment She should keep doing everything that she normally does others	Lauren is such a kind and generous individual who provides support to her group members and is always calm and eager to work She should keep being herself and bring even more of her own unique ideas forward It was such a pleasure to work alongside Lauren and I m so thankful we were on a team together Working on the group protocol together was so easy because she was ready to do any job and did so with great proficiency I think Lauren could do less sitting back and listening though a really valuable skill for limiting conflict and allowing herself to think about the ideas of others I think sometimes her kindness and patience meant she let others with strong personalities like myself take the lead of discussion when she could have even more meaningful things to offer It s really difficult to think of something Lauren should do less of because she is such a fantastic group mate and leader and I am honoured I got to share this experience with her
others	you re amazing so easy to work with and great ideas