TeamQ Report

Team-Q was developed for self and peer assessment of an individual's teamwork skills. It is designed for undergraduate education as a practical method for assessing teamwork as a learning outcome. The following describes teamwork behaviors, with students report on a five point scale how often their peers (and self) demonstrate each of the behaviors (Never, Sometimes, Usually, Regularly, Always).

TeamQ Ratings Radar

Below is a radar chart that presents the results of your teammates rating of your abilities and your own ratings of your abilities. The ratings of your teammates have been averaged together for ease of comparison.

Suggestions to Improve

Part of the TeamQ was to "Write one specific, actionable goal to help your teammate improve their teamwork competency". Presented below are the goals you wrote for yourself, followed by the goals your teammates wrote for you.

Feedback	Comment
others	Continue to be easy going when it comes to group assignments and meetings You are very willing to negotiate and work with other members of the team in a very respectful manner Keep being positive and non judgemental of other s ideas One suggestion would be to speak up more I know that you are kind of quiet sometimes in group meetings but you have loads of great ideas and valuable input so be willing to share Continue to bring a positive attitude to the group setting which helps to reduce the group s overall stress level
others	You re a great team player you always contribute and you stay on top of your part of the work Not to mention you have great video editing skills Thanks for a great year
others	You were very positive contributed great work and accomplished your tasks on time The only thing I d suggest is to be a little more assertive in the group It was a pleasure to work with you Casey
others	Casey you were such a great member to have on our team You brought our team so much calmness Thank you
others	You are a great team member For future learning or application don t be afraid to contribute your opinion whenever you think it s valid because you have great ideas to share with everyone else that should not go unnoticed